THE NEXT GOVERNOR IN TOWN

MR. AYCOCK GOES TO WENTWORTH.

He Brings Encouraging Reports From Points He Has Visited---The Outlook Bright, Though There's Work to be Done. Candidate Aycock Meets Candidate Adams.

Hon. Chas. B. Aycock, the Democratic nominee for Governor, spent a few hours here this morning on his way to Wentworth, where he addressed the people of Rockingham today. Mr. Aycock spoke in Durham yesterday and says he was heard by a large and enthusiastic crowd. At night Messrs. Turner, Grimes and Lacy spoke to a large crowd.

Mr. Aycock told the Telegram that wherever he went he found Democrats aroused and at work, with chances for Democratic success very bright. "There is no doubt," said he, "of the fact that the amendment is daily growing in popular favor. One has only to travel about over the State to see this. In the West, where it is claimed there is so much opposition to the measure, the Democratic candidates found on their recent itinerary that many of the people of that section are aroused to as great a pitch of enthusiasm as are their brethren of the East Of course there is a great deal of work yet to be done," Mr. Aycock said, "but you can count on the Democracy of North Carolina doing all the work necessary. Yes, there's going to be a victory; a great victory."

The Telegram asked Mr. Aycock when he would next speak in Greensboro. "I'm sorry, but I can't come to see you people again during this campaign. The Democrats of Greensboro and Guilford county can take care of themselves, anyway." So saying, the next Governor of North Carolina boarded the train and was gone.

While at the depot Mr. Aycock spent a few minutes in conversation with Senator Pritchard, Judge Adams and other Republicans. Candidate Aycock and Candidate Adams clasped hands in a cordial manner and expressed their mutual pleasure at meeting. A Republican standing near remarked: "There is the next Governor." When asked to whom he referred he replied: "There are the two candidates: it is reasonably certain that one will be Governor." That was as near as he would come to admitting the recognized truth.

CIRCUIT COURT OPENS.

The Trial Docket Called and an Adjournment Taken.

The special term of United States Circuit Court was opened this morning at 9:30 o'clock, with Judge Simonton on the bench. The trial docket was called, and no cases being ready for a hearing, court was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Two sessions of court will be held daily, the first opening at 9:30 a. m. and closing at 1 p. m. The afternoon session will open at 3 and close at will.

The jury is above the average, both in intelligence and looks. It is composed of some well known and substantial men, among whom are Benjamin F. Blair, of Archdale; R. H. Wray and J. W. Fitzgerald, of Rockington county, and C. H. Wilson and Lindley Osborne, of Guilford.

Among the visiting attorneys present are J. C Black and J. L. Seawell, of Carthage, and Maj. W. A. Guthrie, of Durham.

Opening of the Carnival in Richmond.

Richmond, May 14.—Richmond's free street fair and May carnival opened today under brilliant auspices. The weather is all that could be desired and the number of visitors from out of town is large beyond expectation. The opening address was made by Jos. Bryan, proprietor of the Richmond Times, and tonight Henry Lee Valentine, a prominent young business man, was duly crowned king of the carnival.

A feature of the occasion is an organization of the city's young men, prominent socially and otherwise, into a body of horsemen known as the Knights of the Golden Horseshoe, appropriately costumed, the name harking back to the famous knights of Governor Spotswood.

The carnival is to continue throughout the week.

Will Play for the Elks.

The Gate City Band will furnish music for the Elks' carnival in Charlotte next week. Mr. M. A. Lyon was here from Charlotte today and made the contract.

The boys will leave Greensboro Tuesday morning, the 22nd, and will remain in Charlotte the remainder of the week. It is fair to presume that the Gate City Band will go far toward making the pleasure of the carnival complete.

Got to Be an Old Story.

Over 20 years ago an American civil engineer, who visited Cabecera, in Venezuela, was asked by a deputation of the inhabitants, who had heard of his skill as a surveyor, whether he thought a canal could be made from their village to Provecue, which would save a very long river journey. He visited the district and found that by taking advantage of two small streams a canal of about a league would be all that was necessary.

The committee were delighted with this report, and they begged the surveyor to write an official letter to the government on their behalf, asking that they might be permitted to begin the work at once.

Ten years after this the surveyor was again at the village of Cabecera, and the first question asked him was: "Do you not think a canal could be made from here to Provecue?"

On his informing them that he had been asked the same question ten years before and had taken some time and trouble about the matter, the chairman replied that on account of politics, the death of his father, etc., the government letter had probably been overlooked. Search was made, the letter was found and once more all was excitement. Nothing was talked about but the canal.

Some years later yet the surveyor was again at Cabecera. Immediately on his arrival a deputation waited upon him. "Do you think a canal"— The speaker never got any further with that question.—Youth's Companion.

Stuck.

"And you are stuck on your last husband?" we faltered, wishing to seem very sympathetic.

The beautiful woman burst into tears.

"I never was so badly stuck on a husband in all my life!" she sobbed. "I supposed he was worth a million, and he isn't worth anything!"

In our material age, the word stuck has lost much of its tenderly sentimental significance, and is mostly used, as here, in its technical commercial sense.—Detroit Journal.

A NEGRO LYNCHING IN AUGUSTA.

On a Crowded Street Car a Negro Sits in The Lap of Mr. Alex. Whitney, Who Resented the Insult by Striking the Negro. In Turn He Was Shot an Instantly Killed By Wm. Willis---The Negro, After Being Identified, Was Swung Up.

Augusta, Ga., May 14—Wm. Willis, a negro who shot and killed Alex. Whitney, a popular young man of this city, yesterday afternoon, was lynched near Grovetown, about 12 miles from here, at 10 a. m., today. The mob which disposed of Willis took him from Richmond county officers, who boarded a train for Atlanta soon after the murder was committed, with the purpose of bringing him to a place of safety. The mob held Willis in the woods near Grovetown during the night, awaiting identification. It was not until 10 o'clock that the negro was thoroughly recognized. He was swung from a tree.

Alex. Whitney was on a crowded street car yesterday afternoon when Willis and another negro boarded it. No seats were available and one of the negroes sat in Whitney's lap. Whitney struck the negro and Willis suddenly commenced firing from a pistol. The first shot struck Whitney in the head, causing almost instant death. The second grazed the hand of Lieutenant Steiner, of the Georgia State troops. Willis was overpowered and later placed in the hands of the officers. A committee of prominent businesss men sent notice to the city authorities today that the law requiring street railways to furnish separate accommodations for white persons and negroes was not being enforced. It was stated that the military company which would be ordered to protect Willis in case of mob violence, would refuse to do so, as Whitney was a prominent member of the organization.

AN ELOQUENT NEGRO.

Rouses the Southern Baptist Convention And Delegates Throw Money at His Feet---The Women of the South Were The First Missionaries to Africa.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 14—Another Booker Washington appeared at the last moment of the Southern Baptist Convention this evening. He was Rev. Chas. S. Morris, a young man of brown skin and with eloquence that thrilled the big assemblage. He is a missionary among the blacks of Africa and had been granted a few minutes for the purpose of making a plea for missionary work in the dark continent. A half dozen other missionaries had just told of their labors and, while the convention listened with great interest, it remained for the negro to stir the great gathering to tumously enthusiasm, when, with eloquence, he told his hearers that Carey was not the first modern missionary, but the pioneers were the godly women who took charge of the slaves when they landed in Old Virginia and clother and fed them and gave them the Gospel.

It was some time before ex-Governor Northen, the president, could obtain silence after the negro's speech. The crowd, however, could not be restrained, and broke forth into fresh applause. Crowds pressed forward and struggled to get near enough to throw money on the platform. Several hundred dollars in silver and notes were at Morris' feet. He asked the audience not to give money to him, but to turn it over to the treasurer, and have it used to send messengers throughout the South to arouse the colored people to co-operation in the mission work in Africa. The outpouring of money was so spontaneous that even after the eloquent black had refused it, it was flung at his feet.

It is expected that there will be two baseball leagues in the State this year; the western composed of teams from Charlotte, Asheville, Concord, Statesville, Salisbury, etc; the eastern, composed of teams from Raleigh, Wilmington, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Wilson, etc. Sherwood Upchurch, of Raleigh, one of the best umpires ever in the State, will umpire the Western League games.

Among the attractions at Charlotte during the week of celebration will be the donkey on which T. DeWitt Talmage made several trips over the Holy Land, and Lillian Russell, the camel, the largest in America.

MARCHING THROUGH FIRE.

BULLER'S MEN HAVE A BAD TIME.

As the Boers Retreated They Set Fire to the Grass and the Wind Did the Rest. Dundee Found to Have Been Completely Looted.

By Wire to the Telegram.

London, May 15—General French's cavalry have gone eighteen miles north of Kroonstaad while the main army of Roberts remains at Kroonstaad. Boers are reported entrenching the Vaal river, but it is calculated that not more than eight thousand fled thither from Kroonstaad. It is thought that Gen. Hunter will make their position untenable.

It is announced officially here this afternoon that the town of Dundee has been occupied by the British. Buller telegraphed under yesterday's date that he occupied the place. About twenty five hundred of the enemy left Sunday for Glencoe where they intrained their wagons, but left the same day by De Jaagers drift and the Dannhauser road. Kaffirs said they were going towards Laing's Nek. Almost every house in Dundee was completely looted.

Buller telegraphs under date of Monday: "The enemy evacuated Helpmaker Neck last night, leaving their rear guard of a thousand in front of us. These we forced back throughout the day under considerable difficulties, as they set fire to the grass on top the Berg while retreating and the wind being unfavorable to us, we were scarcely able to see. Halted the infantry, who marched well through the hot smoke, at Beith."

ONLY 2,000 BOERS TO FIGHT ON VAAL.

Kroonstadt, May 15—It is reported that the whole Boer forces are concentrating on the Vaal and withdrawing from Biggarsburg and southwestern borders. It is computed that not more than two thousand Boers will fight on the Vaal. The railway communications to this place are expected to be opened Thursday. The transports are working smoothly, the troops and horses are receiving full rations, water is plentiful and the health of the troops excellent.

JACK WITH STARS AND STRIPES.

The Methodist Conference at Chicago Would Not Allow Them to go up Together, Though Dr. Handley Spoke for It.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Chicago, May 15.—At the Methodist conference today a resolution was introduced that the British flag should be given a place along side the stars and stripes on the platform of the conference. A storm of noes greeted the reading, but the mover, Dr. Handley, of New Jersey, partly turned the tide by an impassioned speech, saying that the British flag has given missionaries protection in all parts of the world; and stands for the open bible in every community. But the motion to lay on the table prevailed.

Obstreperous Prisoners.

The prisoners in the county jail became very abusive and indecent a few days ago, and no warning by the officers seemed to have any effect. They indulged in vile and abusive language and threatened to attack the officers if they were molested. Yesterday evening Sheriff Gilmer went into the jail, and taking the leader, a big negro, from his cell, administered a sound flogging. This remedy proved effective and the prisoners were at once cowed. Today they are quiet as lambs.

MAYOR'S MONDAY MATINEE.

AN INTERESTING PERFORMANCE.

Charges of Drunk and Disorderly, Vandalism and an Affray Claimed the Attention of the Police Court---A Few Dollars Added to the City Treasury.

Mayor Taylor had a full court yesterday afternoon, and several dollars were added to the city treasury. The stuffy room over the market house, dignified as a temple of justice, was filled by onlookers, prisoners and witnesses, there being a great cloud of the latter, mostly of the colored persuasion.

The first case called was City of Greensboro vs. Clara Chaffin and Lizzie Hodges, charged with being drunk, cursing and making themselves generally obnoxious in Duplin, where sin and vice doth reign. The defendants and witnesses, all colored, were sworn to tell the truth, and then the hearing of evidence began. The testimony was very conflicting, each witness bringing out some new point and omitting what another had said. However, it was pretty well established that Clara had been drunk, very drunk, having spent a good portion of the night walking the street and cursing. The Mayor thought she should pay for the fun, and fined her $5. The charge against Lizzie was dismissed.

Henry Parks, also colored, was called before the bar of justice to answer the charge of being drunk and disorderly. He had been drunk, yes, quite inebriated, but his heart was filled with the spirit of repentance. Upon a promise of good conduct in the future, he was discharged from custody upon payment of a fine of $5 and jail fees.

A pugilistic darkey by the name of Monroe Dick filled up on mean corn liquor Saturday night and attempted to paint this beautiful and growing city a vermilion hue. Seeing an officer pass with a colored brother on the way to the calaboose, Monroe tried to raise a disturbance and would have liberated the prisoner. For his pains he was also placed in durance vile, where he spent the remainder of the night cursing the guard. He was reminded of the seriousness of his offence—resisting and cursing officers of the law—and commanded to pay into the exchequer of the city twenty hard dollars, "or else to the roads you go," said His Honor.

Fannie Johnson, of a coal black color, was summoned by the majesty of the law to tell why she was drunk and disorderly. It seems that she had trouble with her neighbor, an obliging female friend who had been selling her liquor. In giving in her evidence Fannie said: "Dis row started 'kase I wouldn't pay dat wuthless nigger 40 cents for likker, when I'd binner gittin' it at de rate of 5 cents a short. Now dat's de Gawd's trufe, Mr. Mar , ef I ever tole it." The Mayor didn't think the monopolistic action of the neighbor should count in this instance, so Fannie was fined a V.

Will Loyd, not altogether an unknown figure in police circles, was charged with malicious injury to property. A witness swore it was Will who dismantled the city rock crusher, the harbinger of good streets, a few weeks ago, but there was so much "lost motion" in the testimony that the case was dismissed.

James H. West and Will Roberson were charged with an affray in Mr. West's place of business. Three witnesses were examined and both defendants swore they acted in self defence. The matter was sent on to the Superior Court for adjudication.

"Adjourn court, Mr. Crier," said the Mayor. And the free show was over.

Senator Depew and his niece, Miss Paulding, will sail for Europe June 27th. They will go directly to London and divide the time until their return in September, between that city and Paris. Miss Hegeman, another niece of Senator Depew, who passed the winter at his home, in Washington, will leave for Europe May 29th, to be joined there by her uncle and cousin.

TRINITY'S FINE ACCESSION OF BOOKS

The College's Agents in Europe do Collecting--Getting Best Editions in Old English, Middle English and Elizabethan Literature.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

Durham, May 15—Numerous accessions have recently been made to the college library. These books come from various sources. There is a library fund for the purchasing of books and the purchases are made twice a year, one in the autumn and the other in the spring. The library of the late Rev. Isaac Avent has lately been received. A considerable number of books has been added to the collection in Biblical literature from the Avera fund. But the bulk of the new books are for the collection in English literature. Most of these were gotten through the agents of the library in England and on the Continent. An effort is being made to get for the library the best edition of every text of Old English, every published text of Middle English, and every piece of Elizabethan literature. It is hoped that in the collection, when finished, may be found a copy of every piece of English literature that has ever been published from the beginning of our literature to the middle of the seventeenth century. Many of these books are rare and hard to get. About a thousand volumes have already come to the library and orders are outstanding in London and Germany.

The collection will be particularly full in the fourteenth century, the seed time of English literature and institutions, and in the Elizabethan age, the flowering period of English poetry. The collection will not only contain the texts themselves, but will be rich in antiquarian writings, affording students access not only to the sources but also to books on folk lore and literary history. Facilities will be complete for the study of Chaucer, the first great English poet, and Shakespeare, the greatest of all English poets. Orders have been given for editions of every book of any real literary value or interest in the seventeenth or eighteenth centuries, not already in the library, and the collection in the prolific nineteenth century will be made as complete as possible.

Some of the more important of the new books include the publications of the Early English Text Society and the Chaucer Society, both founded and promoted by the famous English scholar, Dr. F. J. Furnivall. These two sets in over four hundred volumes contain critical editions of the pieces of literature written in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries. Another valuable set of books is the monumental edition of English and Scottish Popular Ballads, in ten parts, edited by the late Prof. F. T. Child, of Harvard. One other set that deserves mention is the Dictionary of National Biography, edited by Leslie Stephen and Sidney Lee, containing sixty-three volumes. These three sets of books perhaps represent the three greatest achievements of English scholarship in the nineteenth century:

This collection of books will very likely be the most complete collection in this subject in the country south of Baltimore. Advanced students of English can find access to all necessary library facilities now without going to Northern Universities, if they choose to come here.

Injured in a Runaway.

While out driving Sunday afternoon Miss Cora Lewis, of Jamestown, and a young Mr. Burns, of High Point, were injured in a runaway. The horse they were driving became frightened near the Jamestown depot and ran quite a distance, smashing the buggy and throwing the occupants out. Both Miss Lewis and Mr. Burns were badly bruised, though not seriously injured.

Miss Lewis is a sister of Mr. Harry G. Lewis, of this city.

I've forgot what it is, but anyway all Tony's got to do is to carry a bag with sticks in it, and the men use the sticks and do all the work."—Chicago Tribune.

What Old Sawyer Said.

Senator Sawyer considered himself personally responsible for a Republican majority in Wisconsin and was quite sensitive on that subject.

During the Garfield campaign I was sitting one day in his simple office at Oshkosh when a gentleman, then unknown, but now occupying a prominent position in public affairs, appeared with a letter of introduction from Marshall Jewell of Connecticut, chairman of the Republican national committee, who stated that the bearer had been instructed to visit Wisconsin for the purpose of making a report upon the political situation and the prospects of the Republican ticket. This pricked the old man's pride. He resented, in his good natured way, the invasion of his territory, and I noticed that his face flushed as he read the letter. After looking out of the window for a few moments he looked at his watch, handed back the letter of introduction to his surprised visitor and remarked with deliberation:

"There's a train leaving here at 5 o'clock that will get you into New York day after tomorrow morning, and I'll send up one of my boys to see that you get aboard. When you get to New York, you tell Jewell that old Sawyer read that letter and said there was nothing for you to report on. Desperate.

"After I landed in Algiers," said a Pittsburg man who is visiting Detroit friends, "I went out for a little walk to see the town and incidentally to find a barber shop.

"After spending some time in fruitless search I accosted a man and politely asked him to direct me to the nearest place where I could get shaved. Monsieur did not comprehend, and I repeated my question. What he said I do not know, as he understood no English, and I am equally ignorant of French. We parted.

"I walked on until I met an intelligent looking chap whom I stopped. Slowly, distinctly and in a loud tone of voice I again stated my request. Anybody ought to have understood, but he did not. He threw a volley of French at me, gesticulated madly and left me standing there.

"With the third man I changed my tactics. I did not attempt to talk to him in a foreign tongue that he was too stupid to understand. I clutched him by the arm and held him while I performed a pantomime shave. When I finished, I looked at him inquiringly.

"'Yes,' he said, 'I can see that you are a desperate man. I suppose you want me to take you to a secluded spot where you can cut your throat?'

"Never did the English language sound sweeter to me, and, learning what I wanted to know, I was soon happily wending my way to the nearest barber shop."—Detroit Free Press.

The Stock Exhausted.

At one of the great department stores the other day a young man was indulging in airy persiflage with the pretty shopgirl behind the counter while waiting for his change.

"What a wonderful place you have here!" he said. "What do you sell?"

"Everything," was the reply.

"Everything?" was the incredulous comment. "What do you mean by everything?"

"Just what I say," responded the girl. "Anything you want we can supply you with here."

"Oh, you can, eh?" commented the pretentious Alexander. "Well, let me look at some family ties."

Without remark, but with demure countenance, the girl went away, but in a moment returned and said: "I am sorry, but the manager tells me that we are just out of family ties owing to the great demand. Perhaps you'd like to look at some family jars?"

The young man decided, however, that the latter was an undesirable commodity, and he would have none of it.—New York Tribune.

"I found your medicine a blessing to me and my family."

There are women who feel something like a grudge against the children, who, one after another rob their mother of her beauty and strength. Men do not usually realize how much the mother gives to each child to her own loss. Women accept it as part of the obligation of Nature and pay the debt grudgingly. Yet in Nature's plan every child is a new joy and fresh happiness. It isn't the children that steal the mother's strength. It is the unnatural drains and pains which weaken her.

Every woman who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has found in it the one thing woman has waited for. It stops the drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, makes the baby's advent a pleasure and his life a blessing. No opiates or narcotics are contained in "Favorite Prescription."

"I read what your medicine had done for other people," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, Box 70, Beechwood, Norfolk Co., Mass., "so thought I would try it, and I found that it was a blessing to me and my family. I began in June and took six bottles of your medicine, and three vials of 'Pellets.' I took your medicine a year when I had a ten pound girl. I had the easiest time I ever had with any of my children. I have been very well since. I took three bottles of "Favorite Prescription, three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of 'Pellets.' I had no appetite and could not eat much without it distressing me. Before I took the medicine I only weighed 135 pounds, and now I weigh 175."

Skin Diseases

When the excretory organs fail to carry off the waste material from the system, there is an abnormal accumulation of effete matter which poisons and clogs the blood, and it becomes sour and acid.

This poison is carried through the general circulation to all parts of the body, and upon reaching the skin surface there is a redness and eruption, and by certain peculiarities we recognize Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Erysipelas and many other skin troubles, more or less severe. While the skin is the seat of irritation, the real disease is in the blood. Medicated lotions and powders may allay the itching and burning, but never cure, no matter how long and faithfully continued, and the condition is often aggravated and skin permanently injured by their use.

The disease is more than skin deep; the entire circulation is poisoned.

The many preparations of arsenic, mercury, potash, etc., not only do not cure skin diseases, but soon ruin the digestion and break down the constitution.

S. S. S., nature's own remedy, made of roots, herbs and barks, of great purifying and tonical properties, quickly and effectually cures blood and skin troubles, because it goes direct to the root of the disease and stimulates and restores normal, healthy action to the different organs, cleanses and enriches the blood, and thus relieves the system of all poisonous secretions. S. S. S. cures permanently because it leaves none of the original poison to referment in the blood and cause a fresh attack.

SSS

Healthy blood is necessary to preserve that clear, smooth skin and beautiful complexion so much desired by all. S. S. S. can be relied upon with certainty to keep the blood in perfect order. It has been curing blood and skin diseases for half a century; no other medicine can show such a record.

S. S. S. contains no poisonous minerals—is purely vegetable and harmless.

Our medical department is in charge of physicians of large experience in treating blood and skin diseases, who will take pleasure in aiding by their advice and direction all who desire it. Write fully and freely about your case; your letters are held in strictest confidence. We make no charge whatever for this service. Our book on Blood and Skin Diseases will be sent free upon application.

TUESDAY, MAY 15, 1900.

PUNISH THEM ALL.

About the most interesting thing before the public now is the discovery of the frauds in the postoffice department in Cuba.

The matter is becoming very serious and is described by the Washington Post as "the rottenness in the postal department." Only one man, C. F. W. Neely, of Indiana, has been arrested, though two others, Director Rathbone and Auditor Reeves, are implicated so seriously that their arrests are almost sure to follow. The Washington Post thus summarizes some of the facts in the case:

On April 23, the director of posts, E. G. Rathbone, made a report, which was forwarded to the Postoffice Department, in Washington, and which stated that the postal accounts in Cuba had been examined and found to be correct. In this report Treasurer Neely was especially commended for the ability displayed in conducting the business of his office.

On May 5th Treasurer Neely was arrested at Rochester, N. Y., charged with embezzling $36,000 of Cuban postal funds. Over $6,000 was found in his possession. His arrest was based upon an investigation by Colonel Burton, inspector general of the War Department, at Havana, who made an investigation subsequent to that of Director Rathbone, and reported that shortages had existed in the department of posts for months.

On May 7th Treasurer Neely was released on $20,000 bail, furnished in the form of two $10,000 gold certificates. This cash bail came from the Seventh National Bank of New York. It is now alleged that the $20,000 deposited for Neely belonged to Neely himself. Neely was not a man of wealth when he entered the government service, at a salary of $2,500 a year.

On May 9th the Associated Press correspondent at Havana reported that the department of posts in Cuba admitted a shortage of $75,000; that the investigation showed that systematic frauds had been perpetrated for months; that two subordinate officials had been suspended, and that others were known to be implicated with Neely in the conspiracy to loot the Cuban postal revenues.

On May 10th an Associated Press dispatch from Havana stated that one of the suspected officials had made a confession, and that several arrests would follow in a few hours. Later in the day an additional dispatch (Associated Press) came from Havana to the effect that there had been a change of programme; that no further arrests would be made "at present;" that Director Rathbone was co-operating with Governor General Wood in an effort to solve the problem," and that it was deemed advisable not to give out further information regarding the investigation.

The Postoffice Department in Washington admits that remittances of money order funds from Cuba had been in arrears for months; that large sums had been allowed to accumulate in Havana, owing to difficulties in the way of prompt transportation. In the face of this explanation is the fact that prior to his arrest, Treasurer Neely had made frequent trips to New York; that he was engaged in big enterprises in Cuba on his own account, backed by New York capitalists, which necessitated visits at short intervals to the United States, thus showing that the treasurer himself could have personally attended to the transportation of the funds to the depository in New York. The Postoffice Department in Washington also had trusted agents and facilities at its disposal to transport these accumulating funds had proper official vigilance been exercised.

The indications are that Neely, the treasurer, Rathbone, the director, and Reeves, the auditor, were in collusion, not only in their schemes of fraud but in plans to push each other along to higher things, one of them being to elect Rathbone Governor General of the island, and Reeves auditor for the whole of Cuba. This scheme was nipped in the bud by the appointment of Governor Wood, and the beginning of the military investigation. As we said yesterday, every one of these men ought to be ferretted out, and severely punished. Nothing can be too severe. With it all Mr. McKinley is having his hands full.

An Havana dispatch of yesterday, in the morning papers received since the above was put in type, says that the extent of the postal frauds is far greater than has been supposed. Besides taking in the general postal department of Cuba there has been the utmost rottenness in the local Havana office as well as in several others of the island, and that if all the suspected parties were arrested at once the postoffice would have to be closed.

The Methodist brethren are making President McKinley's road pretty rocky.

There may, and perhaps will, be a good deal more fighting, but the Boer star is rapidly declining in South Africa.

Without any desire to disparage, or to show any disrespect for ex-Governor Jarvis, we make bold to say that his friends are making an egregious mistake in urging him for the presidency of the University to succeed Dr. Alderman.

Among the items in the general deficiency bill taken up in the House yesterday was one of $20,000 for expenses incurred by Richmond Pearson in his campaign to steal Crawford's seat. The Duke is deeper plated with gall than we had supposed.

Mr. DeArmond, yesterday, in the course of his speech, got in o a regular July heat in abusing the administration for not having sent out some word of encouragement or some help for struggling liberty in South Africa. George Washington was abused in his day for not wading in and helping struggling republicanism in France. But he didn't go in.

One negro seems to have seen the truth. Elsewhere is given an account of a speech made by a colored African missionary before the Southern Baptist Convention, in which he declared that Carey was not the first missionary, but that the pioneers were the women of the South who took the naked savages, fed and clothed and civilized and christianized them. Free niggers now turn up their noses at slavery, as if it were not the ladder on which they climbed out of the jungle. This negro seems to be a sensible man.

We notice that at other places in the State various organizations have taken up the work of raising funds for the famine sufferers of India. We do not know what organizations have done or will do, but we hardly think that one individual anywhere will do more than Mrs. F. E. Ross, of Greensboro, who has been collecting donations here. The report in the Telegram yesterday showed her collections to be a good deal over $200, and this has been all gathered in very small amounts, many of them five and ten cents, no individual donation going, if we recollect correctly, over $5, and only two or three of that size.

Our astronomers inform us that we shall enjoy an eclipse of the sun on Sunday, the 27th inst. We hope the day will be fair so the remarkable phenomenon may be easily experienced.—Southport Standard.

This is bewildering to us. All the authorities we have noted say the eclipse is to be on Monday, May 28th. Turner's almanac says it begins in Raleigh at 7:30 and ends at 9:59 in the morning.—Concord Standard.

Like the Concord Standard, we will take Turner for our guide. The Southport Standard's special corps of astronomers may be up-to-date as to when the eclipse will be "experienced," but Turner is the old reliable, and we sink or swim with Turner.

Attached to the Bakery.

A plausible tale of a man who bought a loaf of bread and took away more property than he paid for is told by the Pawtucket correspondent of the Providence Telegram. The man was in a hurry to catch a car.

His impatience made the clerk nervous. She forgot to snap the string which bound the paper about the loaf, and away sped the man with the loaf, while the string reeled off behind him.

He caught the car all right, and, although the conductor and some of the passengers noticed as he sat down close to the door that the twine paid itself out as the car rolled along, the man did not discover the tangle until he alighted. In the meantime the conductor was having a good time. As passengers stepped on the platform he cautioned them not to walk on that string, and they did not.

It might have looked mysterious to the people who saw the string moving along the street, for the unraveling continued until the bakery twine bobbin had been nearly emptied by the connected loaf a mile away. The man with the bread felt a tug at his loaf as he stepped down from the car. Then he followed up the cord, winding as he went.

He was one of those strictly honest men who want nothing that does not belong to them, and the best part of the story is that he followed the string back, winding as he walked, and in due time entered the bakery and returned the ball of twine.

Strawberry Fishing In Chile.

A singular custom prevails in Chile which in these days of aseptic precautions will cause a shudder among those who see infection lurking in every detail of life. It is called strawberry fishing and is conducted in this fashion:

At the close of a dinner the cloth is removed, and there is placed upon the table an immense bowl into which are emptied half a dozen bottles of Bordeaux wine, four of cherry and two of rum, besides sugar and nutmeg. Into this mixture is put a very large strawberry, which floats upon the surface. The bowl is provided with two handles. These are used to lift the vessel and tilt it so that the strawberry may be brought near the edge and sucked into the mouth. This would appear an easy feat, but it is a difficult one, as the fruit rolls over when touched with the lips. The contestant in the effort swallows a considerable quantity of the liquid concoction.

This is the reason for the game, for the bowl is passed from one to the other many times in succession before the strawberry is captured. When that moment finally arrives, all of the guests have reached a ripe stage of hilarity. This is the game as it is played among the higher classes. Among those of a lower social standing the fiery liquor of the country is substituted for wine. With them strawberry fishing develops into a function compared to which a fighting mixed ale party in this town is the recreation of a group of peace seeking Quakers. —New York Sun.

Lincoln's Coolness.

Thomas F. Prendle, for 35 years a doorkeeper at the executive mansion, used frequently to accompany President Lincoln on his walks about town and has many interesting things to tell of that great man, whom he believes to have been one of the bravest men the world has ever known.

On one occasion Prendle was walking with the president down a flight of steps at the navy department when they came suddenly upon a man who was evidently endeavoring to hide himself in a dark corner at the bottom of the staircase. Observing the stranger and fearing he meant harm to the president, Prendle essayed to place his body in a position to protect his companion.

Mr. Lincoln, however, brave and fearless as always, stepped forward and closely scrutinized the man, who ran rapidly up the steps and, turning squarely around when he reached the top, looked down upon the president, who did not falter, but continued to gaze sharply at him. On their return to the White House Mr. Lincoln said quite calmly, "Prendle, do you know I received a letter last night warning me against a man who exactly answered the description of that man we met on the steps?"—Leslie's Weekly.

Cedars Twenty Centuries Old.

Some cedars are undoubtedly more than 2,000 years old, for, though on good moraine soil they grow about as fast as oaks, on bare pavements and smoothly glaciated overswept granite ridges in the dome region they grow extremely slow.

One on the Starr King ridge, only 2 feet 11 inches in diameter, was 1,140 years old. Another on the same ridge, only 1 foot 7½ inches in diameter, had reached the age of 834 years. The first 15 inches from the bark of a medium seized tree—6 feet in diameter—on the north Tenaya pavement had 859 layers of wood, or 57 to the inch. Beyond this the count was stopped by dry rot and overgrown wounds.

The largest I examined was 33 feet in girth, or nearly 10 feet in diameter, and, though I failed to get anything like a complete count, I learned enough from this and many other specimens to convince me that most of the trees 8 to 10 feet thick, standing on polished glacier pavements, are more than 20 centuries of age rather than less. Barring accidents, for all I can see, they would live forever. When killed, they waste out of existence about as slowly as granite.—John Muir in Atlantic.

Very few persons can eat the white of a hard boiled egg with any degree of comfort. Eggs are highly nutritious and easy of digestion when lightly or under cooked. The albumen, the white of the egg, coagulates as soon as it is dropped into hot water. The long boiling renders the yolk soft and mealy, but the white becomes tough and indigestible and should be discarded.—Ladies' Home Journal.

REPUBLICAN OPINION.

An Iowa Business Man and an Editor From the Same State on the Constitutional Amendment.

While in Washington a few days ago, on his return from an extended visit to North Carolina, a prosperous business man and staunch Republican of Iowa was intervied by the editor of the Jefferson, Iowa, Bee, who bolds a government position. The Iowa business man, who was just from Greensboro, having visited relatives in this county, gave it as his opinion that, from a general observation, the constitutional amendment would be ratified at the polls in this State next August. He also stated that he attended the Guilford County Republican convention and thought it equal to like conventions in Iowa.

The editor of the Bee stated in his correspondence that it was the prevailing opinion in Washington that the people of North Carolina would ratify the amendment by a good majority, and the effectiveness of the Republican organization in this State would soon be a thing of the past.

This is Republican opinion away from home.

The Unanswerable Prayer.

Detroit Journal.

The Layman—Candidly, do you expect your prayer in behalf of the Boers to be answered?

The Pastor—I flatter myself it is unanswerable, sir. Three or four cranks have tried to answer it through the press, but it seems to me they have failed egregiously

The Russian Peasant.

It is asserted by those who have lived among them that the lowest types of modern European civilization are probably the Russians. While writers and travelers vary as to the future of Russia nearly all are agreed as to the utter degradation at present of the Russian peasant. He is always on the verge of starvation and is absolutely improvident, while his gross and complete ignorance is combined with the most extravagant superstition. Like all low natures, he is thoroughly distrustful of reform, and as a climax to his infirmities he is a confirmed drinker.

Middle class in Russia there is practically none. The small shopkeepers combine exorbitant charges with shameful usury. Manufacturers and producers are nearly all foreigners, and the larger trade of the country is chiefly in German hands. Education may after the lapse of several generations remove the inherent dullness of this people, but it will be no easy matter to root out evils which are the growth of centuries of serfdom and distress.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Same Effect.

"It is very odd," remarked Mr. Hubbub, "that in Africa there is a tribe which cannot wear clothes at all. Clothes make them sick. Isn't it strange, dear?"

"Not at all," replied Mrs. Hubbub. "The same thing happens in this country also."

"Oh, surely not! I never heard of such a thing in civilized countries."

"Well, Mr. Hubbub, I can tell you that even in this great and glorious land the same phenomenon is by no means unknown. When I see Mrs. Poindexter coming out every month or so with a fine new outfit from head to foot, her clothes make me sick—make me sick, I say, Mr. Hubbub—when I reflect that you are just as able to buy me new clothes as Mr. Poindexter is to buy them for his wife and don't."

And Mrs. Hubbub dissolved in tears. —Smart Set.

Youthful Diplomacy.

Mother (with conviction)—Johnny, you took those preserves from the pantry.

Johnny (shrewdly)—Why, ma, you never saw me do anything of the kind.

Mother—Perhaps I didn't see you, but you did it, and I want you to tell me the truth. (After a long pause) Come! Why don't you answer?

Johnny—Ma, "children should be seen and not heard."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Happy Japan.

The delinquencies of Mary Ann or her equivalent are a tabooed subject among Japanese ladies. To discuss servants would be considered by them a decided want of good breeding. They may talk of dress, the theater, music and a variety of interesting things, but their domestic tribulations must never be referred to.—Baltimore News.

Many a man who poses as a public benefactor never thinks of giving his wife a dollar for her own personal use.—Chicago News.

Algeria and Argentina are the only countries in the world where the horses outnumber the human beings.

"Do you know what is the best way to kill time in the winter, Dick?" said an Alleghany girl to her steady company.

"I know several ways. But which is the best way?"

"Sleigh it."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

NEXT DOOR TO THE EXPRESS OFFICE.

HIS FIRST VISIT IN 21 YEARS.

An Aged Citizen of Friendship Amazed at the Appearance of Greensboro.

"Uncle" Jimmie Erwin, an aged citizen of Friendship township, was in Greensboro today for the first time in 21 years. He was accompanied by his son-in-law and came down on business; nothing else would have brought him. "Uncle" Jimmie is 77 years old and has lived in Guilford county all his life, a few years ago moving from Jamestown township. He said his reason for remaining away from Greensboro all these years was that he had no business here, and being a man who attended strictly to his own business, he remained at home and attended to his farm duties.

The old gentleman said he did not expect to find Greensboro the primitive town of twenty-odd years ago, but he was unprepared for the changed conditions with which he was met. The elegant residences and substantial business houses were a revelation to him. He thought a great deal of money had been needlessly expended in their erection.

Easily Removed.

The courtier prostrated himself before the dowager empress.

"What have you learned concerning this reformer Ting Foo Ping?" inquired the grand old woman.

"I have learned, your imperial ineffability, that he is a man of dangerous popularity whom it would be well to let alone."

"You think it safer, eh? And why?"

"Because, madam, he has a wise young head on his shoulders."

The empress laughed contemptuously.

"Bah!" she said. "I can easily remove that objection!"

And, turning slightly, she beckoned to the imperial headsman.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Crime on the Increase.

The venerable Judge Jackson of the United States circuit cort at Wheeling expressed a pessimistic view of the state of the public morals in charging a jury the other day. "My experience on the bench," he said, "has not been a limited one, and I regret to say that crime in this country is on the increase. I am unable to determine whether it is a result of increasing population or of the lowering of the standard of public morality."

That Settled It.

"Why do you think the plaintiff insane?" a witness examined as to somebody's mental condition was asked by counsel at a trial.

"Because," replied the witness, "he is continually going about asserting that he is the prophet Mohammed."

"And pray, sir," retorted the learned gentleman of the wig, "do you think that when a person declares he is the prophet Mohammed that is a clear proof of his insanity?"

"I do."

"Why?"

"Because," answered the witness, regarding his questioner with easy complacency, "I happen to be the prophet Mohammed myself." — London Answers.

A Difference.

"Did you go to the girls' college benefit supper, major?"

"Yes, little girl."

"They say it was a circus, major?"

"No, it wasn't, little girl. If it had only been a circus, I could have bought a bag of rancid peanuts for a nickel, instead of paying 50 cents for a burned ball of popcorn."—Chicago News.

Poet's Query Answered.

"I wonder will they miss me?" wrote the poet in violet ink on gilt edged paper.

And the editor, as he tossed the manuscript into the yawning gulf at his side, murmured softly, "If they do, they never ought to be trusted with a gun again."—London Telegraph.

AN ANCIENT BELIEF.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of siatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by Grissom & Ford ham.

No Cur—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sel Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

WINE OF CARDUI

HEALTHY OLD AGE.

LARUE, BENTON CO. ARK., Aug. 4.
I am 49 years old and have been suffering with Change of Life. I had flooding spells so bad that none thought I could live. My husband got me Wine of Cardui and it saved my life. I am like another person since taking it.
MRS. E. B. TOWNSEND.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It is the devout wish of nearly all people to live to a ripe old age. None of us want to die young. This universal desire can be realized if care be taken of the health in early and middle life. A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. It is for women alone to decide whether they will be healthy or sick. The remedy for their sickness is close at hand.

"DANGER IN THE EARTH AND AIR; DANGER EVERYWHERE."

A Wise and Venerable Doctor Talks about Advanced Science.

In a leading hotel, in a great city, a famous and aged physician was conversing. Listening to his wise and sententious discourse, were a group of well dressed men, evidently lawyers, business men and commercial travelers.

My firm belief, is "that medical science is certain yet to show that all diseases without exception are caused by invisible germs which are living organisms. Here is the germ of that terrible disease diphtheria. Here is the bacillus of typhoid fever; and here is the still more dreadful bacillus of tubercle which causes that most destructive of all diseases, consumption. This of that very common and supposed incurable disease, catarrh."

"I wish, Doctor," said the traveling man, "that you would tell us about catarrh. I have had it for years, and I am thoroughly discouraged."

The Doctor answered. "Catarrh, like diphtheria, consumption, typhoid fever, and a host of other diseases, is the result of a microbe invading the blood and attacking specially the mucous membrane. This foul and most disgusting disease is especially prevalent in the United States and it is rare to meet one who is not, or has not been troubled more or less with it. How often is he or she obliged to remain at home from pleasant entertainments, deprive themselves of many intellectual treats, from fear of the disagreeable odor arising from catarrhal affections. In its worst phase, the patient becomes loathsome both to himself and his friends.

"I believe," continued this great physician, "that the true way to heal catarrh is to medicate the blood. This can be done only by powerful alteratives which act as blood purifiers."

Betsy A. Marett, of Manistee, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

Dear Sirs:—For ten years I was a sufferer from general debility and chronic catarrh. My face was pale as death. I was weak and short of breath. I could hardly walk, I was so dizzy and had a ringing in my head all the time. My hands and feet were always cold. My appetite was very poor. On getting up in the morning, my head swam so I was often obliged to lie down again. I had awful pains in the small of my back. I had a continual feeling of tiredness. My muscular power was almost entirely gone, and I couldn't go half a dozen steps without stopping to rest, and often that much exercise caused me to have a pain in my side. It seemed as though the blood had left my veins. The doctors said my blood had all turned to water. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I tried the best physicians in the state, but failed to get any relief. My husband got me a bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla. I took it, and then I bought another. When these had been used, I was somewhat improved in health. I continued its use, and felt I was growing stronger; my sleep was refreshing, and it seemed as if I could feel new blood moving through my veins. I kept on taking it, and now consider myself a well and rugged woman. I work all the time, and am happy. I am positive that the Sarsaparilla saved my life. The sick headaches I have had since childhood, have disappeared, and my catarrh has almost entirely left me. I cannot be too thankful for what Johnston's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I recommend all women who have sick headaches to use your Sarsaparilla.

INCIDENTS OF A DAY.

Something of What is Going On in and Around Greensboro.

The lawn party to be given on the Eckle lawn Thursday night will be for the benefit of the Greensboro Fire Department.

County Treasurer McKinney and Messrs. T. M. Pickard and John Rankin went out to Hamburg today to try their luck fishing.

A big picnic is scheduled for the 25th inst., at Cardeza's pond, in Madison township. Seveeal Greensboro people will attend.

Today at noon Policemen Pearce and Jeffreys came off night duty and joined the day force. Officers Jordan and Cates go on night duty.

The attendance at the Spring Garden Chapel Sunday school is very gratifying. The hour of meeting has been changed to 4:15, thus enabling many Normal students to be present.

In addition to the first degree work at the Buena Vista Lodge of Odd Fellows tonight, interesting reports of the recent session of the Grand Lodge will be presented. A full attendance is desired.

Today Officers Jordan and Cates arrested Chas. Gardner, a young white man wanted in Goldsboro for obtaining a bicycle under false pretence. He is being held for the arrival of an officer from Goldsboro.

The firm of Rees & Bond, artistic sign writers and decorators, has been dissolved, Mr. Bond going to Richmond to engage in business. The business at this place will becontinued under the direction of Rees & Co., who willcontinue to do high-class work.

At the firemen's lawn party, on the Eckle lawn Thursday night, the delicacies of the season will be served. The Gate City Band will furnish music. It is unnecessary to say that this is a deserving cause. The public will see that the firemen are well patronized.

Committees from the various companies of the fire department held a meeting last night to arrange for the lawn party Thursday night. The boys are arranging for several new and interesting features, one of which will be a small fire to be extinguished by the companies.

Messrs. J. W. Wharton and W. J. Groome will represent the Guilford County Tobacco Growers' Association at the meeting of the State association to be held in Raleigh on the 24th inst. At this meeting the committees on plans and permanent organization will make reports.

An alarm of fire from box No. 24, on the corner of East Market and North Forbis streets, last night at nine o'clock, brought out the department and a good crowd of people. The trouble was caused by a false alarm turned in by a young negro. Mr. J. J. Smith, who lives nearby, saw the boy and chased him for quite a distance, but was unable to catch him.

An Exclamatory Name.

"O. Mye," called the justice in the Harrison street police court today, and a silence fell over the room, while the crowd looked around to see why the justice had uttered the sudden exclamation.

"O. Mye! O. Mye!" again called the magistrate, more loudly, and Bailiff Barnet hurried to the bar and asked the justice what was offending his dignity.

"Call O. Mye, Mr. Bailiff," ordered the court, and Barnett repeated the words in tones that could be heard on the street. The officer glared about for the person who he thought was guilty of contempt of court, and when a meek appearing man left his seat and walked toward the bar Barnett seized him and declared him under arrest.

"Is this the man who is guilty, your honor?" asked the bailiff.

"What is your name?" asked the court, without heeding Barnett's question.

"O. Mye," answered the prisoner, and the bailiff took a tighter hold on his collar.

"O. Mye?" queried the court.

"Yes, your honor," from the prisoner.

Then it dawned on the bailiff that he had made a mistake. O. Mye, who said his first name was Oliver, had been arrested for begging on the street. When the policeman who arrested him told him that he had abused several persons who had refused him alms, his name was uttered by several in the court. The prisoner likewise said "Oh, my!" when he got a fine of $50.—Chicago News.

How McCullough Lost a Bet.

William H. Crane, the actor, once told this story on his old friend McCullough. He said that one night in San Francisco he was awakened from a sound sleep by McCullough pounding on the door of his room and in response to his sleepy inquiry as to what was wanted responded: "Let me in, Billy. I want you to decide a bet."

Once in, McCullough told Crane that he and the man who accompanied him had bet a $20 goldpiece as to who could stand the longer on one foot and that Crane must referee the contest. The preliminaries being arranged and the stakes deposited, time was called, and each contestant, lifting a foot from the floor, stood like a crane, while the real Crane lay back in a recumbent position with a drowsy eye on the contestants. The seconds dragged into minutes, which again threatened to extend into the hour without either disputant giving up.

Suspecting something was wrong, Crane waked himself up and examined his men more closely. The other man was wavering a bit, but McCullough was standing like a rock. Another five minutes went by, and then Crane, hopping out of bed, discovered that McCullough had one foot resting against an adjacent sofa and could have stood there for a week, if necessary. The other man won the bet, but the joke was on the referee.

Wouldn't Blacken His Boots.

It would be superfluous to praise the hospitality of American private houses, but it was impossible not to see how much of it is hampered and curtailed by difficulties of service, of which all my hosts complained. I hardly ever ventured to ask for hot water in dressing or to utter an actual request that my boots should be cleaned. My plan was to place them outside my door, as at a hotel, and I generally found that, if not blacked, they had been rubbed over before the next morning.—G. C. Broderick's "Memories."

Perfection in Baby Carriages--Special feature shown at BLOXTON & JENNINGS' of the Excelsior Sleeping Couch. As a Sleeping Couch the Excelsior is unrivaled and no Child's Carriage can be perfectly adapted to the various purposes it should serve which cannot be readily converted into a Sleeper. How often do we see children trundled along with heads nodding and pitching from one side to the other of the carriage, or sleeping in a most uncomfortable position? The Excelsior obviates all this. Whenever the child is inclined to sleep the back can be let down in a moment and the child at once placed in a easy sleeping position.
